

Professional training for stage dance

Applications are valid from now on until April 1, 2023!

Vocational training for stage dancers

The vocational education as a stage dancer includes nine years of training and begins in the 5th grade. Entry into the school at a later stage is possible at any time with the appropriate artistic aptitude and previous dance training. The accomplished degree entitles and enables students to work professionally as stage dancers. See: >>> Alumni

Vocational School for Stage Dance

The vocational school for stage dance is a full-time vocational school. The training includes three school years (11th to 13th grade) and ends with a final examination to become a state-certified stage dancer. Previous to the 11th grade, students can leave school with the following qualifications: „Erweiterte Berufsbildungsreife (eBBR)“ - “extended vocational maturity“ after 9th grade or the „Mittlere Schulabschluss (MSA)“ - „middle school graduation “ after 10th grade.

Those students who attend the higher secondary school on the basis of a high school recommendation attain a „general university entrance qualification“ (Abitur) at the same time. Those who attend the upper secondary school until the end of grade 12 and then continue and complete their education at our vocational school, receive the general qualification for admission to a university of applied sciences.

Admissions to the vocational school for stage dance

The admissions process at our vocational school involves several steps:

First of all, you need to fulfill the entry requirements*. You can then apply for the artistic aptitude test by submitting a video application. Finally, the assessment process at our school includes auditioning in front of the school's internal examination board as well as a medical check-up by our school physician.

Information about the entry requirements, the aptitude test and the selection procedure can be found >>>here.

The artistic aptitude test is submitted by video, the final audition takes place at our school!

We please require your consent to use these video recordings for the purpose of the aptitude test.
